resident in this Territory, coming from the States, often suggest to us of persons in their old neighborhoods, who would be subscribers if they could see the Advertiser. We hereby send a special agent, and person receiving, will consider it as a business card, and will endeavor to secure a regular subscriber. Particular attention is given to the fact that the Advertiser is the only paper in the Territory that retains the regular per cent for their circulation.

JOB WORK.

present extensive additions of new type, colored type, and cards, etc., to the Advertiser's Office, we claim to be able to turn out Job Work in a manner unequalled by any office. The proprietor being a printer himself, and having in his employ an accomplished and experienced Job Printer, is determined not to be outdone in the execution of Job Work. Cards, blank, letter, and all other printed cards, blank, work in colors, bronze, etc., will meet with particular attention.

candidate, we shall do our electioneering in the stump, and in the private circles.

editor, who we have said has been neutral, shall continue so. We have written this article heretofore, touching this matter, and say nothing more after this; and our motto is: Let nothing be done to sully our name as a people. We have the name of a high-minded, intelligent, generous, and unselfish community. We are justly entitled to let our zeal get the better of our judgment in using other than fair means to defeat opponents or elect friends. Let the Advertiser be before us, be met fairly, honestly, and uprightly; seeking the right, and having in view only the country's good. That we may feel after the election that we have wronged no man; and that whoever may be elected, that they are the Representatives of the whole people, and as such, entitled to our respect and assistance in rendering them, not only useful, but popular to the citizens of Nebraska County.

have been requested to contradict reports that certain individuals are the author of articles which appeared, sometime ago, in the Advertiser over the signature "J. J." We can't contradict all reports against candidates, and we don't feel that if we commence it, we may be called upon to continue. The Editor of the Advertiser has been accused of being the author of these articles, but will not say here that such is the fact or not. But will say that if any are anxious enough to do so, we will call on us, there will be no difficulty in ascertaining who "J. J." is.

(Correspondence of the Nebraska Advertiser.)

CRESSCENT CITY, IOWA, October 24, 1896.

DEAR SIR:—I have just returned from a round in Omaha, and I can assure you I was much gratified with the trip. There are many strangers there now; indeed, so much so that I have to some extent become a stranger myself. Now business of various kinds springing up, much in advance of what was anticipated a few months since.

The riders are up, the race has commenced, and many are entering the ring for the forty days prize, besides the "privileges of the course."

I find among the list of the most prominent, S. E. Rogers, Dr. Miller, Capt. Moore, Col. Hanson, and George Armstrong, who appear to be sanguine of success, whilst there are others whose hopes buoy them up, and keep them anxious and eager for the fight, and the termination of the campaign. As yet, politics have not been introduced, as advocated by the great leading parties, and I doubt much whether party discipline can be brought to bear with any assurance of success. There are local questions which appear to interest the constituency of this district more than the doctrines of party. Already I can see that there is to be much strife and contention in reference to local questions, throughout the Territory. Some, I noticed, were inclined to make a show on the "tiger" question; but it is no go, as there does not appear to be much disposition to involve Nebraska in similar difficulties with that of Kansas.

Doubts exist as to whether the Capitol will ever be finished, from the fact that the money is already expended, the walls only about half raised, with the disposition on the part of Congress to limit them to small appropriations—having only allowed them fifteen thousand dollars at its last session, which, it is supposed, will do but comparatively little toward its completion.

Priorities of lots appear to be at a stand, and but few sales; although this was anticipated, during the past season, by many who were observing the signs of the times.

A large amount of merchandise of every salable description, has been taken there, for the accommodation of what many suppose to be a blank country in the interior; but the active business of traders denote settlement somewhere in Nebraska, although houses cannot be witnessed from every hill top.

The Editor of the CRESSCENT CITY NEWS has already moved into his new dwelling, from whence we expect will emanate much wit and intelligence, for the edification of his numerous readers. The printing office it nearly completed, and will be finished in due time to receive the press and materials for the office.

There is a dense and extensive settlement in the country surrounding Crescent City, which will be made glad by the weekly issue from this office. The fireside of the long winter evenings will be made pleasant, and contentment in the happy family circle will reign supreme.

Allison & Nutting have got their steam saw mill in good running condition, and are now prepared to supply the citizens of the town and environs with lumber, which will be the means of adding much to the appearance of this place yet this fall.

There is already a very large stock of goods now opened, and another will be in a few days. Hotel and other buildings making rapid progress.

BROWNVILLE AND NEMAH COUNTY.

We had the pleasure of visiting Brownville and passing through Nemaha county the first of this week. We found both the town and the country far superior even to our ideal of it. Brownville has a fine landing, a good agricultural backbone, and a very energetic and industrious set of men to carry it on.

We hope it may, with its success, and a future full of happiness and prosperity.

We found R. W. FURNAS, Editor of the Advertiser, at his sanctum, surrounded by all that "embellishes and beautifies civilized life," pen in hand, and that indispensable Editor's pen-revolver—by his side. He and his able journal have "one much, very much," to do in the future of Nemaha County and Brownville. The people owe him a debt of gratitude which they can never repay. Like other good men, who are known by their good works, he should be rewarded. He is a candidate for the Council, if he is not elected, the people of Nemaha will have cause hereafter, perhaps, to regret it.

The farmers around Brownville are unsurpassed by any in Nebraska. There is a thrift and an air of permanent contentment about them, which tempt every man who loves the beautiful, to become a farmer. The crops have been very good indeed, throughout the county, and peace and plenty are written by the hand of honest toil over the face of every homestead.—Nebraska News.

Sorry that "circumstances, over which we had no control," as politicians sometimes say, prevented us from paying that attention to friend Rogers, who, during his visit to our city. Visit us again, soon, Mr. M., and we'll show you the fashions.

G. & C. TODD & Co. of St. Louis, advertise in to-day's paper, a list of Mill material and Portable Grist Mills. All constantly called for in this part of the world.

KNICKERBOCKER, Putnam, Harper, National Magazine, Valley Farmer, Ladies Repository, and Dickens's Household Words, are again on our table. We have only time this week to glance hastily over their pages. They are always interesting, rest assured of that.

We welcome to our columns a new correspondent of the "Advertiser," TOM TURNER. Although new here, many of our readers in the States will recognize an old friend. He will be a regular contributor.

"MOLLIE," one of "Nebraska's Own," fair poetical geniuses, has consented to favor our readers, "now and then," with the productions of her pen. What she and friend HUNT will get "come to" we shall see.

SAD ACCIDENT.—On Friday last, a son of Mr. PERRY, of this vicinity, was run over by a horse and severely injured that he died the next day.

The Indian speech published a few weeks since, was made by "Shanty Bear," instead of "Grady Bear" as we published it. All in the same family.

New Store and New Goods.—It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that McALISTER, DOZIER, & CO. are now on hand, with an extensive stock of every variety of goods usually kept in our Western stores; that is, every thing almost you may call for. This is the new house we spoke of some time ago. They are men of capital, business capacities, experience and integrity. Give them a call.

CHANGED AGAIN.—Our mail from Omaha and Nebraska City, now arrives on Saturdays and departs Fridays. Owing to this, our former mishap, our exchanges have entirely failed this week.

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD.—John D. Hopkins, of Railroad notoriety, has "authorized" us to announce his name as a candidate for Council.

See the advertisement of MOORE, WILSTACH, KERS & CO., Cincinnati, the extensive western Book Publishing Establishment.

ARRIVAL OF THE TENNESSEE.

Three Weeks Later from Nicaragua.—The Walker Government—Strength and Discipline of the Army—Severe Fighting with Rebels—Three Officers and Twenty-one men of the Walker Force Killed and Wounded.

We take the following from the New York Herald of the 4th inst.:

At San Juan, Nicaragua, are assuming a most favorable aspect, the utmost confidence in the stability of the Walker government prevailing. The army under General Walker now consists of about sixteen hundred Americans, besides native troops, all in good health and excellent spirits.

News having been received at Granada, a short time since, that a party of men adverse to the Government, were occupying a ranch at San Juan, Gen. Walker dispatched a party of forty men, under Lieutenant Colonel McDonald, to attack them. Col. McDonald attacked them; but finding the party to small to warrant an assault, retired with a loss of six men killed and seven wounded. Leaving a small number to watch the enemy, he returned to Granada with the remainder of his troops.

On receipt of the news at Granada, a party of citizens numbering about sixty men, headed by Lieutenant Colonel Cole, Assistant Quarter Master General, Lieutenant R. Miliken, and Mr. Wiley Marshall, volunteered to go and attack the ranch, and having gained the consent of Gen. Walker, marched to the spot.

The ranch was a large adobe house, pierced with loopholes, and surrounded by a heavy stone wall. Col. Cole divided his men into three parties of twenty each, and attacked the house at three different points, and succeeded in driving the invaders into the interior of the house, but there was repulsed, with the loss of fifteen men killed and missing, including the three commanders in the killed. The loss of the enemy was about one hundred; their whole force was estimated at four hundred.

At the time our informant left, Gen. Walker was about dispatching a body of artillery to make another attack.

Ex-President Rivas is entirely defeated, not being acknowledged by any party.

Leon is still in possession of the opposite party, with a small force of natives, Hondurians and San Salvadorians, all in a deplorable condition, both from sickness and starvation. Desertions from their ranks are constantly taking place, and of the few remaining, from twenty to fifty are dying daily of Cholera. Walker has cut off all means of their obtaining supplies.

The El Niagrangeo of the 12th, gives the particulars of the death of Captain Turley and his gang of robbers, who were cut to pieces by the Indians in Central America. Turley and his men were deserters from Walker's army. The following is a list of the company killed: Officers—Captain Turley, Lieutenant E. F. Russell, Lieutenant John J. Rivers.

Privates—E. R. Fitzhugh, J. F. Butler, B. Boyle, Samuel Browne, M. Conant, Geo. Dunn, W. O. Earl, Jas. A. Gray, J. A. Gammon, J. B. Taylor, G. R. Welch, O. P. Lamm, A. C. Lewis, A. Lacke, W. B. Loflin, M. R. Morrison, A. N. Moore, Samuel Moore, Y. B. Smith, W. B. Shears, H. Smith, D. F. Klink, M. M. Wells.
